TUSTIN AUTO CENTER MAKES EASY TO GIVE BACK DURING THE HOLIDAYS

TUSTIN, Calif. (Dec. 15, 2009) -- Tustin Auto Center (www.tustinautocenter.com) has found a way to make the holidays less busy by giving residents an easy way to share the holiday spirit with those less fortunate in the local community. Now through December 31, the auto center will serve as a drop-off point for Orange County Rescue Mission's "Heart for Hunger" campaign. Customers and residents can drop food items in bins located at each of the 13 dealerships in the Tustin Auto Center. Suggested food items include: rice and dry beans, stuffing and dry potatoes, canned fruits and vegetables, dry milk and cereals, baby food and formula, and soups, sauces and pasta.

"With local food banks at record lows, this is the least we could do to help our neighbors in need," said Mark Parkinson, president of Tustin Auto Center. "We want to encourage everyone to donate what they can to help make the holidays better for everyone in our community."
